Milwaukee Film

Founded in 2008 as a nonprofit organization dedicated to hosting Milwaukee's premiere film festival, Milwaukee Film provides incredible opportunities to view the best contemporary American and international cinema.

The 2010 Milwaukee Film Festival drew over 30,000 attendees with 26 sold-out screenings, which included Take One: Milwaukee Children's Film Festival, a special program designed to engage children and enhance media literacy through film. We also support local filmmakers and give firsthand experience in film production to high school students through our Collaborative Cinema program.

As a member of Milwaukee Film, your generous support not only allows us to put on an annual film festival, but also to maintain a year-round community presence through our education programs and member screenings.

OOH... CHECK OUT THESE MEMBERSHIP LEVELS

(All memberships are valid for 12 months. Then you renew. Otherwise, we'll be pretty sad.)

- Do you secretly convince yourself you know French just because you've seen hundreds of French films?
- Do you see nothing wrong with taking time off from work in the fall to sit in the dark for hours on end?
- Does your Netflix queue read like an endurance training program?
- Do you occasionally turn on the closed-captioning while watching television because you miss reading foreign film subtitles?

If you answered yes to any (or all) of these items, then you absolutely must join the illustrious Milwaukee Film Membership Program.

We think it's one of the greatest things you'll ever be a member of. Sure, we're biased. But again: your sole responsibility is to watch a lot of movies. And last we checked, that's a pretty great thing to have to do.

You should feel pretty warm and fuzzy about it, too. Because by joining this, you give Milwaukee Film the support it needs to continue to inspire, teach and entertain our community year-round.

Who knew watching movies would some day count as charity work?
